

VACATIONS ON GERMAN ISLANDS!

The rugged North Sea and the gentler Baltic Sea, life at an island pace, bracing air, more than 1,000 kilometres of beach and plenty of sun, a never-ending choice of sports, spectacular events and nightlife into the early hours. Towns and cities with a traditional maritime feel, culture that stimulates and new trends that excite. Or peace and quiet at last, time to enjoy a book, swim or just do nothing. No end of sand for building castles. These all together are wonderful ingredients for fantastic vacations by the sea.

Island of Usedom / Baltic Sea (train connections)

Sea-bridge in Ahlbeck

Sandy beach

Fisher boat

Usedom is the sunniest place in Germany. With its endless white sandy beaches, some up to 70 metres wide, this is the ideal place to relax. The imperial spas of Ahlbeck, Heringsdorf and Bansin are seaside health resorts with a great past and a wealth of hospitality and charm.

Parkhotel Bansin **** from 60 Euro per person in DBL incl. breakfast, Summer 2009

Island of Rügen / Baltic Sea (train connections)

Limestone cliffs

Pedestrian area

Spa house in Binz

Few other places in Germany can boast such diverse scenery as Rügen. Its limestone cliffs are immortalised in paintings by the romantic artist Caspar David Friedrich. Not only is the gleaming white chalk a glorious sight, it also has considerable healing properties and is used in treatments at the prestigious resorts on the island.

Hotel Loev **** from 62 Euro per person in DBL incl. breakfast, Summer 2009

Island of Sylt / North Sea (train & flight connections)

White beach

Summer cottages

Tideland

If ones stand on the most northerly point of Sylt ones can enjoy the privilege of calling themselves the "northernmost person" in Germany. Other attractions include wide beaches, an unspoilt dune landscape, the vibrant buzz of the harbour, as well as rest and relaxation in the nature conservation area. The most elegant address is Kampen: small, sophisticated, exclusive, cosmopolitan, chic and full of charm. Germany's most high-profile village has become a hot favourite with a number of famous guests.

Hotel Westerland **** from 98 Euro per person in DBL incl. breakfast, Summer 2009

Island of Helgoland / North Sea (ferry connections)

Red rocks of Helgoland

Fisherman houses

Seal pup

Helgoland is one of the sunniest places in Germany and its proximity to the Gulf Stream also produces a mild climate in winter. The cliff path is a great way to explore the island. It runs from the lighthouse to Tall Anna, a column-shaped rock. The Guillemot Cliff is a breeding ground for rare sea birds. Düne Island, which lies just off Helgoland, has fabulous white sandy beaches.

Hotel Insulaner **** from 62 Euro per person in DBL incl. breakfast, Summer 2009

Island of Norderney / North Sea (ferry connections)

Aerial view

Spa hotels & beach

Historic windmill

The offshore East Frisian Island - Norderney has so much to experience and discover. As well as being great for just relaxing, the beaches are the place for water-sports. There's everything from sailing, windsurfing and kite surfing to beach volleyball, beach soccer, dune golf and kite flying. At low tide ones can walk along the coastal mudflats – an unforgettable experience.

Hotel König **** from 50 Euro per person in DBL incl. breakfast, Summer 2009
